COE JOINS PLEXUS SCIENTIFIC TEAM TO WIN GSA PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT AND CONTINUOUS PROCESS IMPROVEMENT BPA

Rockville, Md. (June 27, 2013) — The Center for Organizational Excellence, Inc. (COE) today announced its a member of Plexus Scientific Corporation’s Contractor Team Arrangement. The team recently won the General Services Administration (GSA) Performance Management/Continuous Process Improvement (PM/CPI) Blanket Purchase Agreement (BPA) award. COE’s extensive expertise in strategic planning, program evaluation, and process and performance improvement will play a critical role in the team’s ability to provide these and other services to agencies across the federal government.

“COE will leverage its 28 years of management and technology consulting experience to help agencies make a measurable impact on their business processes,” said Dan Glover, COE’s director of strategic development. “We look forward to working with Plexus and the team to support federal agency goals by providing streamlined performance management and continuous process improvement tools and services.”

The Contract Team, led by Plexus Scientific, includes COE and five other companies: Catapult Technology; McManis & Monsalve Associates; The Management Edge (TME); True Solutions, Inc. (TSi); and Veterans Enterprise Technology Solutions (VETS), Inc. Together, the Plexus GSA PM/CPI Team will help agencies achieve overarching goals of improving strategic management, increasing operational efficiencies, decreasing costs, and providing transparency.

“COE is excited about our partnership with Plexus to deliver leading-edge consulting solutions to the federal government,” said Steve Goodrich, COE’s president and chief executive officer. “Our innovative and proven consulting methodologies will allow the agencies to choose optimal consulting solutions and services that deliver measurable and meaningful results.”
