COE Adds Former HHS CHCO Blair Duncan to its Management Team

ROCKVILLE, MARYLAND – The Center for Organizational Excellence (COE) is pleased to announce that Blair Duncan has joined our Team as Director of Client Solutions for our Human Capital and related Information Technology practice. Blair will assume the helm of an already thriving HRIT practice across all major systems in the VA, OPM, DoD, and others. In addition, he will leverage our work across our other service lines of Organizational Effectiveness, Data Innovation, Human capital, and Information Technology. “We are excited about Blair joining our team and being able to engage his great talents, wisdom, and innovation,” says Steve Goodrich, President, and CEO of COE. Sean, McPhilomy, Managing Director, added, “Blair will add great value overseeing some of our critical government programs and helping to grow our portfolio.”

Blair comes to COE as the former Chief Human Capital Officer (CHCO) for the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). While there, he led an HRIT modernization effort with plans to extend this across the government to create efficiencies, effectiveness, and high valued customer service. With his experience in the public and private sectors and his aligned values of caring about our clients, Blair will continue to ensure the government receives value-added solutions from COE to help them improve service to the American people. Feel free to reach out to Blair at blair.duncan@center4oe.com.
